

PREFACE

1. Immunities in Contemporary International Law

- 1.1 Jurisdiction and immunity
- 1.2 Delimiting the subject of the book
- 1.3 Contradiction between the protection of State sovereignty
- 1.4 Contradiction between the protection of a State and the protection of human rights
- 1.5 Contradiction between the procedural nature of immunity and the relevance of substantive rules
- 1.6 Contradiction between the assertion of immunity in international law and its contestation on national level
- 1.7 Conclusion: How to get out from the impasse?

2. Jurisdictional Immunities of a State Applied by National Courts

- 2.1 Several Types of Immunities within International Law
- 2.2 Jurisdictional Immunities of a State and Exceptions to it
- 2.3 Sources of Jurisdictional Immunities of a State
- 2.4 Decision of the International Court of Justice on Jurisdictional Immunities of the State
- 2.5 Jurisdictional Immunities of a State and the Constitutional Court of Italy
- 2.6 Jurisdictional Immunities of a State and the British Courts
- 2.7 Jurisdictional Immunities of a State and the Canadian Courts
- 2.8 Jurisdictional Immunities of a State and other International Law Ways of Having Victims Compensated
- 2.9 Conclusion

3. State Immunity versus an Individual's Right to a Fair Trial in the Case-Law of the European Court of Human Rights

- 3.1 Trends and achievements in the ECtHR' case law on State immunity
- 3.2 Exposed reason and hidden choices: a hermeneutic investigation into the meaning of the Al-Adsani judgement
- 3.3 Conclusion

4. State Immunity in International Arbitration

- 4.1 Introduction and the Basic Characteristics
- 4.2 Waiver of Sovereign Immunity as a Golden Rule (A Sketchy Sneak-Peek through Reality - Unveiled)
- 4.3 Current Issues
- 4.4 Conclusion

5. Immunity of State Officials from Foreign Criminal Jurisdiction

- 5.1 Survey of selected cases
- 5.2 Current work of the ILC
- 5.3 Functional immunities and exceptions to functional immunities
- 5.4 Procedural aspects of immunities
- 5.5 Conclusion